Baglady author brings Pot of Gold to Duluth Church

On October 25th, Dina Dove, author of The Baglady's Guide to Elegant Living, will be in Duluth to speak at Asbury United Methodist Church. The symbolic 'Pot of Gold' is the inspirational message showing how everyone, no matter what his or her circumstances, can live a fuller, richer life by applying the wisdom of the Baglady.

Ms. Dove's inspiration came about thru several discouraging events in her own life. After almost 20 years of success, at forty-one she walked into an uncertain future; broke, newly divorced, with no job, no unemployment pay, $250,000 in debt and the IRS knocking on her door. Far from the tragic devastation she expected, she stepped into the world empty and found a life that was magical beyond her wildest dreams. "It was as if I was swooped up into the arms of God," she explains.

Looking back, Dina was able to see that changes made in her thinking, were the greatest contributors to the blessed life she began to experience. She shares with audiences how they can understand and resolve the limiting thoughts that have shaped their lives... and then, the simple steps to finding personal fulfillment.

This event, called The Saturday Special, is open to the public. A continental breakfast, inspirational talk and great fellowship are all included in the $5.00 fee. To make reservations call the church office at 624-0061.

Dina Dove Bio

Since the mid 1970s, Dina Dove has built several successful businesses. She is also co-author of several multi-media business and financial coaching programs.

Of her move into the personal development field, Dina says, "Business and financial skills are certainly important, but unless you approach those skills from a place of personal authenticity, the satisfaction in life you seek will continue to elude you."
